Coaching & Race
Workshop

Workshop Overview

The Coaching & Race Workshop is for everyone who does “coaching” whether as a professional coach or as a leader responsible for developing others. This core workshop is designed to strengthen the self-awareness, courage and communication ability of leaders and coaches.

Our particular focus is supporting leaders and coaches interested in change in Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI). We will be supporting one another to take courageous steps forward in self-care and talking openly and forthrightly about race dynamics in organizations and society. We will present a communication model and have time for peer coaching.

Leading change in organizations that seek to dismantle systemic racism requires fortitude, courage and self-care. This workshop is designed to support white allies and leaders of color focused on creating sustained change.

We are in a moment in our society where true change can and is happening, but often at great personal toll on leaders of color. The course is appropriate for DEI leaders and for coaches and other leaders who want to understand how to help lead and support effective DEI work.

By attending this course, you will be better able to serve and lead your team and clients in understanding the dynamics of race in self and others.

"The Coaching & Race Workshop expanded my capacity for empathy in ways I couldn't have imagined.. I truly see the world differently than I did prior to that weekend. I am now much more aware of the experiences of people of color in our society and reflective of my role in promoting inclusion and equality for all people.."
